

AI software engineer

Start date: immediately

Location: Rotterdam

Clockworks is a Rotterdam-based, growing start-up with worldwide ambitions. We are specialised in the development of solutions for actual problems on the cutting edge of Artificial Intelligence and Computer Vision. We are building an AI-based product to automate administrative tasks in the utility market using image recognition. As one of the first employees you will get the opportunity of shaping the future of this company.

Your job

As an AI software engineer, you will be involved in the full product development process; from data preparation, to training and testing of neural networks, to evaluation of field tests, to bringing our work into production for each of our clients. You will mainly focus on building software to optimize and automate the entire image-processing workflow. You will identify, (re-)design and implement improvements to the existing internal processes and infrastructures for greater scalability and performance. In doing this, you have great eye for detail, to ensure that the quality of every deliverable consistently lives up to our standards. Since we're a small team, you will have a wide range of responsibilities and should be willing to adapt to many different challenges.

Requirements

You..

- have good programming skills (preferably fluency in python) and know how to create high quality software for smart, fast and pragmatic solutions
- are enthusiastic about Computer Vision and Machine Learning and are aware of the latest developments in this field
- are able to quickly create prototypes to evaluate ideas and iteratively improve them into working applications
- have the ability to work in a team, yet the drive to work autonomously
- have good knowledge of the Dutch and English language, both oral and written.

Experience with creating Computer Vision or Deep Learning algorithms or working experience in general is a plus, but not necessary.

What we offer

- An enthusiastic, ambitious and young team of talents
- A fun start-up working environment
- A challenging job with plenty of opportunities for personal development
- Flat company culture
- Flexible working hours
- High level of autonomy

Interested to join Clockworks? Get in touch with Noelle Fischer at hello@clockworks.co or +31 6 4649 4648.